

PROGRAM DESCRIPTION

This program will help physicians and health care professionals improve their knowledge of risk management and end of life care strategies in the health care profession and improve their personal performance and quality of patient care through improved communication and documentation strategies.

Attendees will experience a real-life mock deposition with the plaintiff and defendant's view points and learn how to respond to subpoenas for medical needs.

Program participants will also learn about the expectations and obligations of physicians under The Commonwealth of Massachusetts Board of Registration in Medicine's statutes and regulations.

The end of life care presentations will help physicians address end of life goals with their patients. It will help explain the different documents that are available in order to assist end of life care, and the growing number of palliative services.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

At the completion of this conference the participants will be able to:

- Understand the purpose of depositions and learn about responses during a deposition
- Explain The Commonwealth of Massachusetts Board of Registration in Medicine's processes including disciplinary action and licensing
- Develop an awareness of the importance of providing appropriate end of life care to dying patients
